Annual Borough Clean-up Will Start Next Monday

Gettysburg's annual "clean-up week" will begin next Monday, May 10, and authorities estimate that it will take about three weeks for borough employees to complete their tour of the town to pick up trash, rubbish and other debris put out by residents.

Borough Engineer LeRoy H. Winebrenner said the work would begin in the north end of town.

Council decided to permit borough employees to continue the service of picking up rubbish from yards when it is placed near fences or ends of the property line.

Report Previous Complaint

That decision was reached after some councilmen held that only material placed in alleys should be picked up.

The discussion of the clean-up week started when council learned of a mistake made last year by borough workers during the clean-up period. According to the report the workmen seeing what they took to be a pile of rubbish including leaves, sticks, and the like in the yard of Gervus Myers, East Middle street, promptly fell to and shoveled out the pile. Then came the complaint, Mr. and Mrs. Myers kept the pile as a compost to put in their garden.

At Monday's meeting councilmen passed a resolution authorizing the borough to deliver one truck load of sludge from the sewer plant to Gervus Myers if he wants it to replace his compost pile.

Inspect Garbage Trucks

Engineer Winebrenner asked that anyone having rubbish inside their fences where the borough employees might get at it, to mark it "not to be removed" if they don't want it hauled away.

While on the general subject of cleaning-up, council also directed the health committee to inspect the garbage trucks operating in town to see that they conform with all requirements. Such an inspection has not been made for a number of years, President H. M. Oyster said.

YORK SPRINGS HIGH SCHOOL CONDUCTS MAY FESTIVAL TODAY

The annual Campus May Day of the York Springs high school is taking place today and is open to the public. The activities opened with a luncheon at noon, and the first activity scheduled for the afternoon is the presentation of the May Court.

The members of the Court, all chosen by student vote, are: May Queen, Betty Fair, a senior, with Jean Hetherington of the same class as her maid of honor; attendants, seniors, Thelma Griffie and Joan Miller; juniors, Janice Brough and Estella Sharrer; sophomores, Hilda Griest and Betty Grove; and freshmen, Janet Bittinger and Alice Williams. Sandra Weigle is flower girl and Richard Wolf, ring bearer.

The girls of the grades presented a May Pole dance before the courts. (Continued on page 8)

Youths Swim In College Pool; Issues Appeal

Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson, president of Gettysburg college, today issued an appeal to parents to warn their children against depredations at the college, following a week-end incident at the local institution of learning.

Some youngsters broke a window in the Student Christian Association building over the week-end and entered the building. Some of the youngsters went swimming in the pool.

"The college Y is closed and we do not have guards at the pool. Should anyone be stricken and drown in the pool the tragedy would be frightful. I appeal to the parents to warn their children against such actions and I also appeal to the youngsters to confine their recreational activities to clean wholesome endeavors without molesting or destroying private property. There are ample facilities available for clean play," Doctor Hanson said.

Police protection will be provided on college property.

LEADERS TO MEET

The Adams County Girl Scout Leaders' club will meet Wednesday evening, May 12, at 8 o'clock in the social rooms of Christ Lutheran church. The Brownie troop committee members will serve as hostesses. The program will be in charge of Mrs. Mervin Bream, chairman of camping, who will discuss day camping.

FAIRFIELD AND TWO TOWNSHIPS FORM JOINTURE

Fairfield, Liberty and Hamilton townships Monday night agreed to form a joint school board for the education of the elementary school children in those districts.

High-school students in the joint district will for the most part go to Gettysburg, with each district making arrangements to send its high school students to school. A few of the students in the western part of the area will go to Washington township high school.

At present, the joint school board will operate eight grades, but the directors plan to send the seventh and eighth grades to Gettysburg when Gettysburg is able to construct and put into operation a junior high school.

Wills Is President

C. A. Wills of the Hamiltonban board was elected president of the joint board at Monday's meeting which was held in the Wills' home near Fairfield. Named as vice president of the joint board was Joseph Lowe, of Liberty township. J. Warren Martin, Fairfield, a non-member of the Hamiltonban board who acts as secretary for that board, was named as secretary for the joint board and George E. McGlaughlin, treasurer of the Fairfield board, was elected treasurer of the joint board. All of the men were named first as officers of the executive committee and then were named to the same offices for the joint board.

Selected as members of the executive committee were Wills and Ira M. Walter from Hamiltonban; Lowe and Hoy B. Martin of Liberty township and McGlaughlin and H. E. Brown of Fairfield.

Steffy Camp To Mark 50th Anniversary

Sgt. William M. Steffy camp of the United Spanish War Veterans is planning to observe next month the fiftieth anniversary of the declaration of war on Spain, it was announced today by Camp Commander John A. Zimmerman.

Plans for the celebration will be discussed at a regular meeting Friday, May 14.

The annual memorial services by the USWV will be held Sunday, May 23, at 10 a. m. in the National cemetery. Members of the local camp will participate in the parade here May 31.

CHAMBER BUYS NEW CAR TAGS

One thousand new plates bearing the word "Gettysburg," to be placed on automobiles, will be ordered by the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce, in further efforts to advertise the town and battlefield. The board of directors, at its regular monthly meeting in the Kadel building Monday night, authorized the purchase.

The last Gettysburg plates were purchased by the Chamber of Commerce before World War II, and the supply now is nearly exhausted, Chamber officials said. The first 1,000 plates were sold quickly, and an additional 1,000 procured.

"The new plates will be more attractive than the old ones," according to Mrs. Helen Snyder, secretary of the Chamber. "They will be available to souvenir shops, garages and service stations, at a minimum cost," she added.

The Chamber will supply them to such places at less than cost, assuming the difference as part of its own program of advertising Gettysburg, it was said.

The directors voted to pay $25, the Chamber's annual dues in the Pennsylvania Chamber of Commerce.

FILE CHARGES ON MOTOR CODE

State police of the Gettysburg sub-station filed charges Monday with Justice of the Peace John H. Basehore against two motorists for traffic violations in Gettysburg and three others for violations on highways outside the borough. Ten-day notices will be sent.

William A. Eckert, Gettysburg R. 5, was charged with making a "U" turn, prohibited by law in the borough, and Joseph A. Reaver, 142 West High street, a taxicab driver, was charged with failing to bring his cab to a full stop before crossing (Continued on Page Two)

$600 Damage Today In 3-Car Accident

Approximately $600 damage was done in an accident involving three cars one-quarter mile west of New Oxford along the Lincoln highway this morning at 6:35 o'clock.

As the car of Garnet Crigger, Abbotstown, was being pushed onto the highway it was struck by an auto operated by A. Blair Clark, New Oxford, who was driving east. A little later the Crigger auto was struck again, this time by an auto operated by Lester Walton, New Oxford, who was also going east. No one was injured.

An investigation is being conducted by the state police.

C. J. STALEY IS CARETAKER FOR HOME OF LEGION

Clifford J. Staley, Gettysburg R. 3, was appointed caretaker for the American Legion home on Baltimore street at a meeting of the Albert J. Lentz post home association Monday evening. He and his family will occupy the apartment to be constructed in the top floor of the home and he will have full charge of caring for the building.

That appointment was the only action at the home association session held following the regular meeting of the post held in the post home.

The post voted to send two local youths, between the ages of 16 and 18, to the Keystone camp for boys sponsored this summer from July 7 to 18 at Indiantown Gap by the Legion. William Pensyl, Paul Spangler and Thomas Zeigler were named as a committee to select the two young men to attend.

Lawrence Sheads reported that the winners of the Legion essay contest will be announced following a meeting of representatives of the Gettysburg, Littlestown and Bigler (Please Turn to Page 4)

PAVEMENTS ARE DISCUSSED BY TOWN COUNCIL

Pavements—both the kind pedestrians walk on and the kind cars drive on—were a problem of borough council at its meeting Monday night.

Councilman W. J. Stallsmith brought up the situation on West Lincoln avenue and North Washington street, where students have to use the highway because sidewalks in some places are not available.

The borough engineer was directed to meet with college officials to see if a sidewalk cannot be laid along West Lincoln avenue from the present sidewalk at the student barracks to Carlisle street and along the east side of Washington street to Stevens street.

Both kinds of pavements were under discussion in connection with Highland avenue and Queen street.

Other Problems

A resident of Highland avenue made arrangements with a Carlisle bank for a loan to buy property on that avenue, council was told, but the bank will not make the loan until there is a paved street there.

Borough Engineer Winebrenner told council that cinders had been placed on the street at Highland avenue but that it will be summer before the street has settled enough to warrant placing a paved roadway. There was also the question of an alley behind Highland avenue, but no alley has ever been ordained there, council found.

Another problem was brought before council by Attorney Daniel E. Teeter, representing Richard Dutera. Dutera, according to Teeter, (Please Turn to Page Two)

RHEA IS PLACED ON PROBATION

Harrisburg, May 4 (P)—John H. Rhea, Jr., 23, of Gettysburg was placed on probation for three years today in federal court here after pleading guilty to a postal violation.

Rhea was charged with taking money from letters at the Gettysburg postoffice while visiting his father who is employed there as janitor.

Young Rhea also was ordered to make restitution on the amounts he took.

Judge Albert L. Watson told the youth in suspending sentence that he would be sent to an institution if he violates his probation.

BILL APPROVED

Washington, May 4 (P)—A bill to authorize purchase of five acres of land to add to the Gettysburg National Cemetery was approved today by the House Public Lands committee.

More Than 700 Women Attend Times - Littlestown Cooking School; 42 Prizes Tonight

Littlestown's first Gettysburg Times cooking school opened Monday night in the auditorium of St. Aloysius school with 714 women in attendance. It was an audience which came early, showed keen interest in the lecture and demonstrations by Mrs. Nancy Rowe, the Times homemaking expert, applauded those who received baskets of food, and inspected the latest food products and home appliances displayed by the 25 cooperating merchants.

Doors of the auditorium were open before 6:30 o'clock, and the first of the large and enthusiastic audience arrived more than an hour before the session was scheduled to begin.

The Rev. John C. Brumbach, Littlestown correspondent of The Gettysburg Times, opened the cooking school, and after welcoming the women, introduced Burgess Charles R. Mehring, who in turn introduced Mrs. Rowe.

Times Renders Public Service

"In bringing its annual cooking school to Littlestown, following a three-day session in Gettysburg that attracted nearly 4,000 women of that community and Upper Adams county, The Gettysburg Times performs a public service to Littlestown that evidences further its willingness to assume the responsibilities and perform the public services that are the privilege of a community's daily newspaper," Rev. Brumbach said.

"It makes real the statement so often used—The Gettysburg Times is the only newspaper in the world that cares what happens in and to Adams county communities. The cooking school we are opening tonight is of tremendous value to the women of Littlestown and the vicinity, for food and its preparation are the primary items of the household budget today," he continued.

KENDLEHART IS RETURNED HERE FROM TIOGA CO.

In a series of shifts that changed highway department superintendents in a number of counties across the state J. William Kendlehart, Jr., returned Monday to the position of superintendent of maintenance for Adams county.

Since last August he has been maintenance superintendent for Tioga county.

His successor in Tioga county is Frank Seacrist, who from 1929 to 1933 was superintendent in Adams county. The re-assignment to Adams county was effective for Mr. Kendlehart as of April 23 but he remained in Tioga county with his successor until this week.

Mr. Seacrist went to Tioga from McKean county where he had been acting superintendent for some time.

Ray Tipple, who succeeded Mr. Kendlehart here in last August's transfer, has been sent to Westmoreland county.

Cumberland and Mifflin county superintendents also have been exchanged. Ralph M. Barnett has been sent from Cumberland to Mifflin county and Ray E. Cunningham leaves Mifflin for Cumberland.

A Harrisburg announcement concerning the transfers said they were made for general efficiency and should not be taken as an echo of primary results in any of the counties.

PLAN MUSIC AND ART PROGRAM AT LINCOLN SCHOOL

A special music program and art display will be conducted at the Lincoln school building Wednesday afternoon beginning at 2 o'clock with parents and friends of the students invited to be special guests, it was announced today by the principal, Paul R. Mehring.

Orchestra, chorus and choir selections will be presented under the direction of Richard B. Shade, supervisor of music in the public schools here, Richard Kriek, art supervisor, and the Lincoln school (Continued on page 7)

Lions Are First Chest Donors

The Gettysburg Lions club which last September started the movement that led last month to the chartering of the Gettysburg Community Chest became the first contributor to the Chest fund Monday evening.

The Lions voted the Chest $100, earmarked as a part of the club's contribution to the first Chest fund campaign to be conducted in October, to give the Chest operating capital until its initial fund-raising effort.

The Chest's need for money with which to operate until its fall campaign was brought to the attention of the service club by George T. Raffensperger, a director of the Chest and finance committee chairman of the Lions club. The money was promptly voted from the club's charity fund.

Welcomed By Burgess

"I am sure that at the conclusion of these sessions, those attending will have a sense of something worthwhile that has been accomplished. Furthermore, I am sure there will be a realization that Littlestown, as Adams county's fastest growing community, is fortunate in having available the advantages and the public services of a daily newspaper and is fortunate also, in the fact that The Gettysburg Times (Continued on page 4)

HIGH SCHOOL COURT SQUAD LIONS' GUESTS

Nine Gettysburg high school basketball players and coaches George Forney and Howard Shoemaker were guests of the Gettysburg Lions club Monday evening at the club's weekly meeting at the Shetter House.

Coach Forney recalled highlights of the court season in which the Maroons were contenders for the league championship in a post-season playoff game. He declared the team, with about seven boys carrying the brunt of the battle, won 17 of the 21 regularly scheduled games with "the pressure on constantly throughout the second half" in order to be eligible for league honors.

The coach paid special tribute to Kenneth Fair, absent varsity squad member, as a "wonderful competitor with a keen eye, lots of speed and basketball sense." Forney said he considered Fair one of the best players in the league. He was made honorary captain at the end of the season.

46 Attendance Pins

WORK ON STREET TO START SOON

The State Highway department is planning to begin work on the first block of West Middle street in about 10 days, Borough Engineer LeRoy H. Winebrenner told council at its meeting in the fire engine house Monday.

He made the statement after council had approved plans presented to the council by Russell Conrad, engineer for the state highway, for the reconstruction. Council also passed an ordinance approving the work on the street.

As a result of that statement the council instructed its secretary, Mrs. Anna Dracha, to notify the gas and water companies to get all of their work in connection with mains and pipes in the street completed prior to the start of work on reconstruction of the street and voted to accept a recommendation by Burgess C. A. Heiges that the money paid to the town for the (Please Turn to Page 2)

Burgess Rodgers Is Re-Elected Monday

Thornion Rodgers was re-elected as burgess of Emmitsburg for his second consecutive one-year term Monday.

Burgess Rodgers, who had no opposition, received a total of 107 votes. Lloyd G. Ohler, was re-elected to a three-year term as town commissioner with a total of 67 votes. Norman Flax received 34 write-in votes as commissioner.

The vote was termed as "light." Registration officials for the election included Eugene Kraemer, Roy F. Maxwell, George J. Martin, Lloyd G. Ohler, J. Edward Seltzer and Robert G. Fitez.

SLIGHT CHANGE IN "OFFICIAL" PRIMARY COUNT

Completion of the official count of the ballots cast in last Tuesday's primary revealed only one slight difference from the unofficial tabulation published last Wednesday.

When the clerks completed their work late Monday afternoon it was found that Attorney Donald P. McPherson had 26 more votes cast for him than had been tabulated in the unofficial count. All other figures were the same as the unofficial tabulation.

McPherson had 3,037 votes for state senator while his opponents, Samuel J. Thomas and P. Emory Weaver, had 219 and 375 respectively. The unofficial count had given McPherson 3,012 votes.

County Republicans cast votes for 25 different persons for president of the United States. Thomas Dewey received 807; Edward Martin, 465; Harold Stassen, 301; Robert Taft, 101; Arthur Vandenberg 76; Douglas MacArthur, 66; General Eisenhower, 26; Harry S. Truman, 14; Henry Wallace, 10; Earl Warren, 4, and Joseph Martin, 4. Others included: Leighton C. Taylor, who got six votes; Oscar Rice, Emory Fox, George Martin, Bruce Beisecker, R. E. Berkeimer, LeRoy Winebrenner, Harold Roberts, C. J. Smith, Robert Taylor, Ergle Tuckey, C. M. Boyer and Wilson Wenk, one vote each. Governor James Duff also got one vote.

The remainder of the Republican vote included, for Auditor General, Weldon B. Heyburn, 2,601; for state treasurer, Charles R. Barber, 2,674; representative in Congress, Chester H. Gross, 3,213; Guy Leader, 4; Leighton Taylor, 3; for representative in the general assembly, Francis Worley, 2,521; George P. Black, 1,377; for member of state committee; Clarence C. Smith, 1. ## Littlestown MINISTERIUM PLANS SUMMER VESPER SERIES

St. Paul's Lutheran church was host to the Littlestown Ministerium for their bi-monthly meeting Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The Rev. Frank E. Reynolds, pastor of Redeemer's Reformed church, conducted the opening devotions and the president, the Rev. Kenneth D. James, presided. The Rev. Charles B. Robert presented the secretary's report. President James presented a letter from the Rev. Fr. Joseph G. Gotwalt, who was acting priest at St. Aloysius church from the death of their pastor, the Rev. Fr. Weber, until the arrival of the new priest, the Rev. Fr. Lavelle. In the letter the Rev. Fr. Gotwalt expressed appreciation for the attendance of the Littlestown Ministerium at the funeral services of the Rev. Fr. Weber.

A communication was read from the Rev. O. B. Poulson, superintendent of 29 counties for the Pennsylvania Temperance League, announcing that the "Junia School for Alcohol Studies" will be held from June 28 to July 2 at Junia college, Huntingdon, Pa. He requested the ministerium to pay for a fellowship of $25. The Ministerium granted the request. The Rev. Mr. Poulson appeared in Littlestown on March 7 when he conducted a temperance drama in connection with one of the union vesper services. (Continued on page 3)

Virginia Myers To Open Shop In York

Miss Virginia Myers, 32 York street, recently purchased the former Koller Funeral home, at 1415 West Market street, York, where she expects to operate a women's ready to wear shop.

Miss Myers operates a similar store here. According to A. F. Koller, remodeling is scheduled to begin within a few weeks.

Borough Asks Traffic Recount At Intersection And Opinion On Plot And Lights In Square

What About Center Square?

Burgess C. A. Heiges and the members of the town council today asked residents of the borough to express their opinions concerning what should be done about the center plot in Center square.

Council is planning to ask the state Highway department its opinion and seeks the opinions of the citizens of the town before taking any action.

Letters may be mailed to the Burgess at his office on Baltimore street.

Gettysburg will ask for a recount on traffic at the intersection of Washington and Middle streets, a count of traffic to determine whether traffic lights are needed on Center square, will ask the state for an opinion on whether the center plot on the square should be removed and will also ask the state to be more explicit about whether it wants the traffic light at the intersection of Lincoln avenue and Carlisle street removed.

Those decisions were reached Monday evening at the regular meeting of council held in the fire engine house. Most of the questions arose from letters sent to council by H. W. Evans, traffic engineer for the state highway department giving results of a recent traffic survey made in Gettysburg.

Hint Light Removal

One letter by Evans stated that the count did not show sufficient traffic at the intersection of Lincoln avenue and Carlisle street and at the intersection of Middle and Washington streets to warrant traffic lights there.

At the Carlisle street intersection the count showed a main street volume of 414 cars per hour, a minor street volume of 199 cars per hour and a pedestrian traffic at the crossing of nine persons. Evans' letter stated. The Washington street intersection showed a main street volume of 256 cars per hour, minor street volume of 190 vehicles and passenger volume of 156 persons per hour.

The council voted to ask the state to at least make a recount of the West Middle street intersection, pointing out that the Fairfield road being closed caused a tremendous drop in traffic along West Middle street.

Councilmen confessed themselves at a loss concerning what action to (Please Turn to Page 4)

BUS STOPS ARE AUTHORIZED BY TOWN COUNCIL

Four ordinances and a resolution pertaining to the borough's streets, parking, bus stops and the like were passed by borough council at its regular meeting Monday evening in the fire engine house.

The resolution directed all persons planning to make any repairs or changes in underground pipes on the first block of West Middle street to do so within 30 days so that when the new roadbed is laid there it will not be necessary to dig it up to place or repair pipes. The same resolution decrees that for five years after June 2, anyone who wants to dig into the street for any purpose will have to obtain a vote of two-thirds of the members of the council approving the digging before work can begin.

An ordinance was passed giving the safety committee the right to declare no parking between the hours of 2 a. m. and 6 a. m., along the streets in any section of the town lying between West and Liberty streets and Water and High streets. The area is that covered by parking meters. The ordinance gives the committee the authority to place signs at any spot within the "congested traffic area" directing no parking in the early morning hours, and permits any change the community wishes. A fine of not more than $25 or a sentence of not more than 10 days is provided for violation of the parking regulations. The ordinance passed with little comment (Continued on page 3)

50-50 CLASS OF ST. JAMES DINES

Members of the fifty-fifty class of St. James Lutheran Sunday school held their second annual banquet Monday evening at the Mt. Joy Lutheran Parish house. A roast chicken dinner was served to 74 members of the class and nine guests. Carroll Smith was toastmaster. The invocation was offered by the Rev. Raymond F. Wieder and group singing was led by Dr. Ralph R. Gresh.

After the banquet the group assembled in the social hall where the Rev. Nevin Smith, pastor of the (Please Turn to Page 8)

FIREMEN TO DRILL

The Gettysburg Fire department will resume summer drills Wednesday night, Fire Chief James A. Aumen announced today. Firemen are asked to meet at the engine house at 6:30 o'clock. The new aerial ladder truck will be taken out and instruction given to tillermen and in raising and lowering the large ladder, the chief said. The drill was postponed last week because of the inclement weather.

BUILDING CODE TO BE REVISED

Borough council is planning to revise and bring up to date the town's building code and fire ordinances.

That decision was reached at the conclusion of a lengthy discussion at Monday evening's meeting of the council, with instructions to the safety committee to go into the matter and draw up new ordinances.

Councilman W. J. Stallsmith brought the problem before council by pointing out that the building code contains a number of inconsistencies not in keeping with modern construction, and that the fire ordinances do not give the fire marshal any backing in his efforts to eliminate fire hazards.

The problem of outmoded building codes came up during a discussion of the problem of S. F. Snyder who plans to construct an apartment house on North Washington street but cannot under the present laws.

Stallsmith also brought up the problem faced by Fire Marshal Eugene Sickles in that while he has the power to impose fines for those violating fire regulations, there is no provision to back up that fine by imposing jail sentences in case the fines are not paid and the fire danger removed. "The fire marshal could fine from now to doomsday, and never be able to force the violator to pay the fine or clean up the mess," Stallsmith said.

TO SPEAK HERE ABOUT RUSSIANS

Dr. Hans Kohn, Czechoslovak historian who had the opportunity of studying the Russian revolution from the inside—of a concentration camp—will be the speaker Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock at a public program to be presented at Brua chapel by Gettysburg college. He will have as his subject: "The Russians: What Manner of Men?"

New professor of history at Smith college, Doctor Kohn came to the United States in 1931 under the auspices of the Institute of International Education in New York to lecture in American colleges on the Near East.

On leave from Smith college, he is now a member of the Institute of Advanced Study in Princeton along with such notables as Einstein, Toynebe and Carr and is also an editorial advisor of the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Born in 1891 near Prague, during World War I he served in the Austrian army and became a prisoner of war. Held prisoner in Russian Turkistan and Siberia for five years where he witnessed the Russian revolutions and Civil War, he returned to Europe via Japan and the Indian Ocean and lived for the following ten years in Paris, London and Jerusalem, studying the history of nationalism. He will speak twice Wednesday, with the first talk to the students at 11 a. m. in the chapel.

COUNCIL MAKES DETOUR PLANS

All parking on the north side of West Middle street will be prohibited during the period when the detour is set up for reconstruction of the Lincoln highway west of town. Borough council indicated Monday night at its meeting in the engine house.

In a discussion of the proposed detour, council learned that traffic would be routed from Chambersburg by way of Waynesboro and the Fairfield road into Gettysburg.

Borough Engineer LeRoy Winebrenner pointed out that plans are being completed to have passenger traffic on the Fairfield road routed across Reynolds avenue so that it would come into Gettysburg by way of Buford avenue. In that way businesses along Buford avenue would not be hurt by the Route 30 detour.

Truck traffic however will continue in the Fairfield road and down West Middle street to Baltimore street.

Winebrenner said he had been assured that the reconstruction of the road bed on the first block of West Middle street would be completed before the Route 30 detour began.

EXECUTE 152 IN GREECE TODAY

Athens, May 4 (AP)—It was officially announced that 152 persons convicted of murder were executed in Greece today.

Virtually all the slayings were connected with the 1944 revolution. All appeals by the condemned had been formally rejected by the pardons board.

The executions followed the assassination Saturday of Justice Minister Christos Ladas, officially described as the result of a Communist plot.

Premier Themistokles Sophoulis issued a statement saying "the government will not be intimidated by the treacherous Communist crime against Ladas." He said the government has decided to carry out all death sentences which are upheld by the pardons board.

The government intends to try Guerrilla Leader Markos Vafades in absentia on charges that he was the "moral author" of the assassination of Ladas.

The 1944 revolt was engineered by Communists and Communist-controlled groups against a government of national unity under Premier George Papandreou. Greek contingents and British troops helped the uprising after weeks of bloodshed.

BUYS PROPERTY

At a public sale held on the premises Saturday afternoon, the two-story, six-room brick and frame dwelling at 417 West Main street, Emmitsburg, was sold to George L. Wilhide, cashier of the Farmers' State Bank of Emmitsburg, for $7,100. Mr. Wilhide has been tenacious the property, which had been owned by the Hays family.

A son, Rollin Drake, born to Mr. and Mrs. Graham Lovejoy, Biglerville R. 2, at the Warner hospital Monday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock, died this morning at 2:55 o'clock.

Weddings

Welly—Sandkuhler

Miss Miriam A. Sandkuhler, daughter of Frank A. Sandkuhler and the late Mrs. Sandkuhler of Baltimore, became the bride of Joseph N. Welly, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tyson J. Welly, of near Emmitsburg, at a nuptial mass in St. Paul's Roman Catholic church, Baltimore, on April 15, at 10 a. m.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. The maid of honor was Miss Doris Sandkuhler, a sister of the bride. The bridegroom had as his best man his brother, Bernard Welly, Roger Adams, Emmitsburg, friend of the bridegroom, and Francis Sandkuhler, brother of the bride, served as ushers.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Joseph P. Lane, pastor of the bride. Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. John Schaeck, church organist, presented a 15-minute organ recital. During the ceremony Andrew Walsh, uncle of the bride, sang "Ave Maria" and "O, Lord I Am Not Worthy." After the ceremony the bride presented her bouquet to the Blessed Virgin while her uncle sang, "Mother at Your Feet Is Kneeling." The traditional wedding marches were played.

Immediately following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was held at Seeres Community house for the wedding party and immediate families and friends of the couple.

Mrs. Welly is a graduate of the Academy of Visitation, Frederick, and Mercy hospital school of Nursing, Baltimore. She is employed on the nursing staff at the Warner hospital, Gettysburg.

Mr. Welly is a graduate of Emmitsburg high school and attended Mt. St. Mary's college, Emmitsburg, and is now employed at Ohler's Meat market, Emmitsburg.

After a brief wedding trip through the Southern states, Mr. and Mrs. Welly are residing at their newly furnished apartment on West Main street, Emmitsburg.

Hoff-Goodling

Miss Peggy Ray Goodling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Goodling, Hanover, and Irvin Hoff, Brunshtown, Hanover R. D., were married Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in St. Paul's Lutheran church, McSherrystown. The Rev. Edward K. Stipe performed the ceremony. The newlyweds left on a wedding trip to an unannounced destination over the week-end and upon their return went to housekeeping on a farm at Hanover R. D. The bride is employed at the Cannon Shoe company, McSherrystown, and the bridegroom is employed by Bittinger's Self Service Market, Hanover.

Mrs. Morris Buried

Funeral services were held Monday morning at St. Joseph's Catholic church, Emmitsburg, for Mrs. Anna Mitchell Morris, who died in Pittsburgh. The Rev. Fr. Currens officiated. Interment in Mountaintop cemetery, Emmitsburg.

The pallbearers were Lewis Stoner, Jack Stoner, Donald Stoner, Joseph Sanders, Guy Baker and Francis Sanders.

POLICE RECRUITS

Harrisburg, May 4 (AP)—A class of 21 more student recruits have begun a six months' training course with the Pennsylvania state police. Col. C. M. Wilhelm, state police commissioner, said the students will receive all phases of training instruction, but will be assigned to traffic duty. The training school is located at nearby Hershey.

GIRL IS KILLED

Harrisburg, May 4 (AP)—Miss Mary Hemperly, 32, Annville, died in Harrisburg hospital today from injuries suffered Sunday in a motorcycle accident at Elizabethtown. A member of the woman's family said she and Paul Pitsenberger, Palmyra, were hurled from the motorcycle when it skidded on the wet pavement. Miss Hemperly's skull was fractured.

CREWMEN HURT

Philadelphia, May 4 (AP)—A Pennsylvania railroad locomotive toppled on its side yesterday on the line's main freight tracks after it split a switch near a bridge over the Schuylkill river. Two of the crew were injured slightly when they jumped clear of the engine. They were William R. Carson, 31, Trenton, N. J., the fireman, and Jacob R. Kline, of Philadelphia, a brakeman. Both suffered minor cuts and bruises.

Pittsburgh, May 4 (AP)—Philip Murray, president of the CIO, said last night that the recently announced price cuts by the U. S. Steel Corp. were "paltry and insignificant" and "can have no effect whatsoever on the cost of living."

Murray, president of both the CIO and United Steelworkers, in a radio address (ABC) criticized the action of U. S. Steel and other steel firms in denying wage increases while cutting prices.

"The industry," Murray said, "could have made a sizable price reduction and still have retained more than enough profits to grant our union's wage request. The industry has chosen to ignore the needs of its employees."

Soil washing and blowing during the past three centuries have destroyed or severely impoverished 282 million American acres and damaged 775 million more acres.

MISSION GROUP MEETS MONDAY

Mrs. William Syphax whose Indian name is "Lone Star" was guest speaker at the May meeting of the Women's Missionary society of the Presbyterian church Monday afternoon at the church. She talked on the symbols and ceremonies of the Indians and showed a number of articles representative of the handwork done by the Indians. Mrs. Syphax was introduced by Mrs. John K. Lott who was in charge of the program.

Women of the congregations of the Hunterstown and Marsh Creek churches were special guests for the afternoon.

Mrs. Rudolph Rosenstengel, president of the society welcomed the guests. The group joined in singing "O Jesus I Have Promised" after which Mrs. Robert M. Hunt read the Twenty-third Psalm concluding with a brief talk.

Plan June Meeting

Mrs. Clarence Bartholomew sang "Prayer Perfect," and "Consider and Hear Me" accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Hunt.

It was announced the next meeting will be held on Monday June 7 in the evening when members of the Women's Service Guild of the church will be special guests. A film entitled "Beyond Our Own" will be shown by Mrs. Henry M. Scharf and Mrs. Richard A. Brown who are in charge of the program. Miss Mabel Ruthrauff will conduct the devotional. The hostess committee for this meeting will include Mrs. Frank N. Hewetson, Mrs. Mark Snider, Mrs. Harvey Warner, Mrs. H. C. McIlhenny, Mrs. J. McCrea Dickson, Miss Irene Wolfe, Miss Lee Harper, Mrs. J. Kerr Lott, Mrs. C. H. Heldt, Mrs. S. Gray Bigham, Miss Sue Harper and Miss Reba Adams.

All members of the society were requested to be present at a meeting which will be held at the church Thursday evening, May 13, at which the new Sunday school curriculum will be presented.

A social hour was held at the close of Monday's meeting the hostess committee for which included Mrs. C. Ross Shuman, Miss Helen Aumen, Mrs. Gomer Sharp, Mrs. John D. Keith and Miss Anne Gilliland.

cannot get his mail delivered to his home on Queen street until a sidewalk is laid along property of Mrs. C. T. Zeigler. He asked that no action be taken until he and the Zeiglers can discuss the matter.

Discuss More Matters

Duterra and Charles Haller also posed the question of when Queen street will be paved. At present cinders have been placed on the new street. No action was taken by council.

The question of buying 40 additional parking meters to be placed on the second block of York street was discussed, with that matter postponed until a special meeting.

Borough Engineer Winebrenner was directed to meet with Joseph E. Codori to lay out a grade or whatever may be needed to open up East Barlow street across the Codori development to Fourth street.

$500 For "Ree" Group

A payment of $500 to the recreation association was authorized with another payment of $500 to be made later.

Councilman Fred Hummelbaugh was given authority to buy a new lawn mower and build a coal bin for the disposal plant and the burgess was authorized to approve bills of the borough police in connection with special work.

Councilman Harry Koch listed complaints regarding the condition of a stream in the rear of Steinwehr avenue where, he said, grass is growing up and a stone retaining wall has fallen. The borough engineer reported work is about to begin on the stream.

One other question was raised in council—"what about Bollinger's Ice Cream truck clanking a bell on Sunday evening?" The question went unanswered.

CARS COLLIDE

An automobile driven by Mary Lou Kranias, 129 North Washington street, collided with the rear of a car operated by George W. P. Whip, Catonsville, Md., Sunday afternoon on Baltimore street, according to a borough police report. The damage was negligible, police said.

MUSIAL SPARKS CARDS TO WIN; GIANTS TRIUMPH

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

This may be Stan Musial's greatest year since he came up to the major leagues with the St. Louis Cardinals near the end of the 1941 season.

In his first 11 games, the 27-year-old native of Donora, Pa., has built up a robust 383 batting average. But that is not the entire story.

Stan's 18 hits include four doubles, three triples and two home runs. All figures are high up among the leaders. He has driven in 14 runs, almost one third of the Cardinals' total. Only Walker Cooper of the New York Giants and Hank Sauer of the Cincinnati Reds, with 15 each, have batted in more.

Quite a difference from his showing last year at a corresponding date, when he was hitting a puny .167 and had driven in only four runs.

The pride of Donora singled in his first two times at bat yesterday, the second blow sending in Red Schoendienst with St. Louis' first run. The Cards added two more to defeat the Chicago Cubs, 8-1. In the only day game in the National league.

The triumph pushed the Cards into third place, past Brooklyn, and only a game and a half behind the pace-setting Pittsburgh Pirates.

Dave Koslo hurled a masterful four-hit 5-0 shutout for the Giants over the Reds before 28,424 fans in a night game in Cincinnati. It was his second win in two starts.

The victory put the Giants in a virtual tie with the Pittsburgh Pirates for first place in the National league. The Pirates, however, hold a percentage point lead with eight victories and four defeats to a record of 9-5 for the Giants.

No other National league games were scheduled. Rain washed out the only scheduled American league game between Washington and Philadelphia.

Opening Softball Games Postponed

Rain caused postponement of the Community Softball league carded as opening games Monday evening.

Games will be played Wednesday evening at the high school as follows: Elks vs. Moose, 6 p. m.; Acme vs. Knox's store, 7 p. m.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
New York, May 4 (AP)—Dan Ferris, who likes to look back on the good old days when there was a first-rate outdoor track meet every week, isn't quite sure that it wasn't a mistake when the national championships were shifted to July from their old September dates. . . . It was done for the benefit of the collegians, of course, so they could compete at the end of their spring season without training all summer. . . . "But it probably deprives a lot of kids of the chance to develop during the summer competition," Ferris says—there's not much chance to revive late-season outdoor footracing unless the promoters of the big indoor meets can be persuaded to sink some of their profits into such a project, but Dan thinks there's a chance in the late spring. . . . "We could hold them on Wednesday nights, for instance, and not interfere with dual meets," he explains. "In Sweden and Finland they have mid-week meets at night, never on week-ends, and they draw up to 40,000 spectators. We might do the same thing." . . . Sure, but who wants to be the first to try it?

LEADS ENCHANTMENT
A few ardent followers of Illinois sandlot baseball were slightly disturbed when the Illinois state league began bringing in umpires from Massachusetts, New Jersey and Ohio instead of recruiting locally trained blind toms. . . . Finally someone asked President Howard V. Millard how come. . . . "I want them to think twice before going home," Millard explained. "Then if they do decide to go, we'll be sure they won't come back."

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE
During spring training manager Ted Lyons of the White Sox predicted that his former employee, Thurman Tucker, would wind up as Cleveland's regular center fielder—which is batting 1,000 in the prediction league. . . . Ascot park, the 1/2 mile track at Akron, Ohio, which specializes in "specials," will add another for its June meeting. This is the "Ascot big four," an event limited to four year olds and patterned after the Santa Anita maturity. . . . Cookie Lavagetto, cut off the Dodger roster in Philadelphia, probably set a record of some sort when he visited the press box to say goodbye to the writers before leaving town.

PA. ENFORCING FISHING LAWS

Harrisburg May 4 (AP)—The Commonwealth set out today to enforce its fishing laws and carried a big stick of heavy fines and jail sentences to discourage offenders. Two fishermen already have started serving jail terms because of inability to pay stiff fines.

"These jail sentences are just the start of our campaign to enforce the law," said state Fish Commissioner Charles A. French.

And the commissioner warned that "we are cracking down on all violators."

In Clinton county one fisherman was jailed for 1,070 days when he was unable to pay a fine of $1,070, one of the heaviest on record in the state.

A 70-year-old woodsman was sent to the Franklin county jail on Saturday for 533 1/2 days in lieu of a fine of $530 plus costs of $3.50 for illegal possession of 53 trout.

French said there are about 500,000 anglers in the state and pointed out if many violate provisions of the fish laws it seriously hinders the commission's conservation system.

Triple Crown For Citation Looming

Louisville, May 4 (AP)—The "rock-em-and-sock-em" combination of Kentucky Derby record smashers, Calumet farm's Citation and Jockey Eddie Arcaro, set dead aim today on a few more marks in their quest for the coveted triple crown—America's diadem of three-year-old racing supremacy.

While old Louisville slowly returned to normal after Citation and Arcaro showed how a horse race should be run Saturday, all eyes were turned on the approaching Preakness and Belmont stakes.

Usually the Preakness, to be run at Pimlico in Baltimore May 15, comes one week after the derby but there'll be no hustle and bustle to the railroad car and the trip to Maryland this time. The trainers can bide their time, and speculate on the apparent futility of challenging Citation and his fifty-stepping stablemate, Coaltown.

The Belmont stakes at New York follows June 12, and completes the triple crown lineup.

Interstate League

(By The Associated Press)
Bad weather which has plagued the Interstate league since its opening last week caused all of yesterday's games to be postponed.

The four postponements left Lancaster and Allentown still at the top with one defeat each in four games as the teams opened new series.

The first "crucial" series of the campaign brought Allentown to Lancaster with Trenton at Wilmington, York at Hagerstown and Harrisburg at Sunbury.

Today's schedule: Allentown at Lancaster, York at Hagerstown, Trenton at Wilmington and Harrisburg at Sunbury.

Eastern League

(By The Associated Press)

When the Hartford Chiefs racked up their fourth win in six Eastern league starts, 3-0, last night at Wilkes-Barre, righthander Ernie Johnson made it three straight shutouts for Hartford hurlers.

The Binghamton Triplets staggered to a 7-6 win at Elmira in a decision marked by eight errors and it was the fifth time in six starts Manager Buddy Hassett employed more than one bowler.

In the other game, Mel Nee pitched Scranton to a 4-1 decision and two-to-one series edge over Albany. The Utica-Williamsport game was postponed because of wet grounds and cold weather.

MAKES HOLE IN ONE
John Riddlemeyer, Chambersburg, formerly of McKnightstown, made a hole in one on the No. 6 green of the Chambersburg Golf club course at Scotland Sunday with an 185-yard drive.

MINISTERIUM

Another communication was read from the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America requested the co-operation of the Ministerium in observing the bi-centennial of the death of Isaac Watts on November 25, 1948. Mr. Watts wrote a great number of the outstanding hymns that are used in the Protestant hymnals. The matter was tabled for action at the September meeting when plans will be made for the fall union vesper services.

It was announced that the annual baccalaureate service of the Little-town high school will be held in the high school auditorium Sunday, May 23, at 8 p. m., when the sermon will be preached by the Rev. Frank E. Reynolds with all members of the Ministerium participating.

Plan Vesper Series

Plans were completed for the union vesper services to be held in Crouse Park. The schedule follows: Sunday, June 27, the Rev. Kenneth D. James preaching and the music in charge of the choir of St. John's Lutheran church; July 4, the Rev. Frank E. Reynolds, preaching and the music in charge of Redeemer's Reformed church; July 11, the Rev. David S. Kammerer, preaching and the music in charge of St. Paul's Lutheran church; July 18, the Rev. Grantas E. Hoopert, preaching and the music in charge of the Littlestown Men's chorus; and July 25, the Rev. John C. Brumbach preaching and the music in charge of the choir of the Christ Reformed church and St. Luke's church, White Hall.

Further plans were also discussed for the Community Daily Vacation Bible school of which the Rev. Mr. James is the dean and the Rev. Mr. Rebert is the registrar. The faculty is being selected and the faculty, together with the place of the school will be announced later. It was decided to conduct the school June 1 to 11 with sessions from 9 to 11 a. m. There will be no registration fee as heretofore, but an offering will be received at each session of the school. Registration blanks will be distributed by the registrar in the public schools in the near future so that he can prepare the enrollment cards. The closing devotions were conducted by the Rev. Mr. Hoopert.

Edwin Huff, Mrs. Gladys McGurk and daughter, Cydney, York, were Sunday visitors at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. D. S. Kammerer, West

King street.
Samuel H. Higinbotham, W. E. Stites, Wilbur A. Bankert, Donald Feiser, Kenneth Ollinger, George Cool, Luther Myers and Melvin Wehler, near town, spent the weekend at Camp Stites, Potter county, where they enjoyed the weekend fishing.

Aid Society Meets

"Mother" was the theme of the May meeting of the Ladies' Aid society of Grace Lutheran church, Two Taverns, which was held Monday evening in the parish house. Mrs. Charles Trostle, the president, was in charge. A song service which included "My Mother's Bible," and "I Need Thee Every Hour," opened the program which was followed by the scripture lesson by the president. There followed a period of silent prayer for mothers over the world. Miss Alma Reaver presented the secretary's report. Roll call found 26 members and 10 guests present.

In the business meeting it was reported that the society had served a banquet on April 16 to the Gettysburg high school faculty. New song sheets were bought which are to be used at the Mother and Daughter banquet on May 11 in St. Mary's Reformed church, Silver Run, and at the Father and Son banquet which will be held at a later date. One hundred dollars was voted by the society to Lutheran World Action.

A Mother and Daughter banquet will be served May 26 at 7 p. m. for St. John's Lutheran church, Littlestown. The proceeds from this banquet are to go to the Rev. J. J. P. Tigl, president of the Lutheran seminary, Ranchi, India, who preached in the church on May 2. He will use this money to purchase books for his seminary. This will be a donation banquet. All members of the society are being solicited. This gift to Rev. Tigl's seminary is in memory of "Mother's Day."

The following committees will arrange the banquet: Kitchen: Mrs. William Myers, Mrs. B. B. Bowers, Mrs. Webster Snyder, Mrs. Charles Little and Mrs. Mervin Weikert; dining room: Mrs. Vernon Straley, Mrs. J. M. Myers, Mrs. Kenneth Stair and Mrs. Glenn Bowers. The society also made a motion to have the interior of the parish hall painted.

Following the Christian Endeavor benediction, the program committee took charge. This committee consisted of Mrs. Webster Stover, Mrs. Kenneth Stair, Mrs. James Strevig, Mrs. Vernon Straley, Mrs. James Straley, Miss Agnes Straley and Mrs. Charles Trostle. They presented the following program which also carried out the Mother's Day theme: piano solo, "Now is the Hour," by Dawn Strevig; readings, Mrs. Kenneth Stair and Mrs. Vernon Straley; vocal trio, "Mother," Dawn Strevig, Sue Ellen Stair and Evelyn Reaver accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Clarence Myers; and a reading by Mrs. Webster Snyder. Contests followed in which the contestants sought to make as many words as possible out of the word Mother. Doris Hahn and Mrs. Glenn Reaver were the winners.

Special guests at the meeting were members of the 1948 confirmation class and their mothers. Those attending were: Doris Hahn and her mother, Mrs. Ross Hahn; Charlotte Sponseller and her mother, Mrs. Earl Sponseller; and Sue Ellen Stair and her mother, Mrs. Kenneth Stair. After the singing of one verse of "Blest Be the Tie that Binds," refreshments were served. The next meeting will be held Monday, June 7.

other than a question from President H. M. Oylar asking "this is for snow removal and the like?" and the answer was "yes" from Councilman W. J. Stallsmith.

Authorize Bus Stops
Another ordinance provides for bus stops in the borough. The highway committee is empowered to set up such bus stops and mark them with paint or signs. A fine of not more than $25 or one day in jail for each dollar fined if not paid is provided for violators.

Through Highways
West Lincoln avenue from Carlisle street to College avenue, and College avenue from West Lincoln to the borough line were designated through highways by another ordinance and the burgess was directed to erect stop signs accordingly.

A number of sections of the town were designated as no-parking zones by another ordinance. The streets on which parking will not be permitted include the west side of North Stratton street between York street and the right of way of the Western Maryland railroad; the east side of North Stratton street from a point 40 feet south of the south property line of Racehorse Alley north to the right of way of the Western Maryland railroad company; on the south side of Locust street between Baltimore street and Wainwright avenue; on either side of Wainwright avenue and on the north side of East Middle street from the east property line of the Methodist church to Baltimore street. In connection with the no-parking regulations fines of up to $25 or jail sentences of up to 10 days can be levied on violators.

The Gettysburg Times
FIFTY YEARS AGO

Great Victory at Manila: London, May 1 — The American squadron, commanded by Commodore Dewey, won a complete and glorious victory over the Spanish fleet in the Philippines today.

During the night Commodore Dewey signaled to his warships that were in Subic bay, 50 miles to the north of Manila harbor, to clear the ships for action and to follow him. There had been a consultation of the captains on board the flagship during the night, and it was decided that the first stroke should be made decisive.

Local Miscellany: $101.35 was the amount cleared at the Ardaches Meridian supper, held two weeks ago.

Last week Geo. E. Spangler sold a Steiff piano to W. C. Sheely, Esq. Monday morning Sheriff Miller and his deputies took two prisoners to the Eastern penitentiary.

Mr. Geo. F. Young on Saturday night took charge of the post office. Mr. John H. Sientz is his chief clerk. For the present, Mr. Young will retain Mr. H. Elliott and Mr. K. Culp.

Daniel Cashman had a slight paralytic stroke on Friday.

Flour has advanced from 60 to 70 cents per barrel.

Charles Sandoe has opened a meat store in the room recently occupied by the Electric railway, Chambersburg street.

The Gettysburg National bank has declared a dividend of 4 per cent, and the First National bank a dividend of 3½ per cent.

Rev. David E. Aquilla is the new pastor of A. M. E. Zion church of this place.

The telephone exchange in this place answered 1,057 calls on Monday.

On Thursday John B. McPherson, Esq., will have the middle toe on his left foot amputated. Dr. J. B. Scott will perform the operation, assisted by Dr. J. D. Stahley.

The Grand Commandery of the Knights of Malta will be in session at York next week and will wind up the conclave with a trip to Gettysburg.

Mr. Wanamaker's Visit: Mr. Wanamaker and his campaigning party spent a very busy six hours in Gettysburg on Tuesday, and departed well pleased with their short visit to the historic scenes of the great battlefield.

Arriving on the 10:27 W.M. train, the party was met at the station by Hon. Wm. H. Tipton and Hon. Theodore McAllister and other citizens and informally welcomed to our town. They made their headquarters at Hotel Gettysburg.

The party was driven over the field under the guidance of Capt. Long. . . . On Little Round-Top the party sang patriotic songs and gave three hearty cheers for "Old Glory," President McKinley and Admiral Dewey.

After dinner at the hotel, the party proceeded to the court room which was filled with citizens. Mr. Tipton introduced Mr. Wanamaker, the latter addressing the citizens for about an hour.

At the close of the exercises many of the audience shook hands with Mr. Wanamaker. Mr. Tipton introducing the citizens, and Prof. B. K. Little.

Drowned: On Wednesday afternoon, Bernard W. Martin, aged 22 years, only son of Vincent W. Martin, of Harrisburg, was drowned near that place.

The body was brought to his grandfather's, Mr. Wm. J. Martin, in this place, on Friday evening, and was buried from the Catholic church

Today's Talk

THE PURE PLEASURE OF IT
We can only eat so much. We can only wear one suit of clothes at a time. In other words our actual essentials or necessities are very few. Everything else is simply accumulation. Something to boast of by a considerable number of people. But I like to think that the majority like to do much — in the way of kindness and thoughtful things — just for the pure pleasure of it.

If you don't quite get my meaning, try and select something that you think a great deal of, and decide to give it away to someone who you feel sure will be delighted with it — then you will understand. I have given away many a treasured thing that I wouldn't think of selling for money — and, lo and behold, what a thrill to the transaction! It has been said that the only things we keep are the things that we give away.

I recently visited with a friend who had just received page proofs of a book on which he had spent ten years of preparation! It was only going to be printed in a limited edition and he told me that he would make no material profit from his work, but that he had a lot of fun doing it. You have to plant desires deep in yourself so they will have good rootage. Then there will be plenty of fruitage to give away and to share.

The late R. B. Cunningham Gramham early fascinated me. He wrote around 40 books — not merely to sell, but just because he so enjoyed writing them. He got fun out of it. But a very great writer he was! Now we, who love him, get fun (and intellectual profit) out of reading his books.

The genuine collector of things doesn't do so to make a financial profit. He does it for the pure pleasure of it. And, of course, that means mental and spiritual profit. A hobby is a stimulating pursuit. You keep discovering new fields. Each surprise is an uplift. The things that enrich and ennoble us most in life are not the things that money could buy, though often money is the means. I have always found it difficult to put a money value on anything that I loved.

We all have to make a living. We are happiest and contribute most when we get fun out of what is known by the name of — work!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Spiritual Nourishment"

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST
The Poet of the People

FATHER'S HOPE
A father wants his boy to be
A greater, wiser man than he;
Play better with a bat and ball
Than he could do when he was small;

And when in college, 'tis his dream
That he will make the football team,
And with a brighter touch of fame
Than he could win, adorn his name.

No man, though great his own successes,
Would have a son of his do less.
Poor man or rich, his hopes are high
That as the years go swiftly by,
He'll be allowed to live to see
His boy a nobler man than he;
And this the prayer he often makes:
Lord, keep my son from my mistakes.

SEE DECISIVE YEAR FOR FATE OF WORLD PEACE

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

President Truman says the present year "may well determine the world's future."

The chief executive expressed this striking view yesterday in a message of greeting to the AFL-Union International convention in Washington. He didn't say what impelled him to such belief but left it to us to figure out for ourselves. That constitutes something of a challenge, so let's see what decisive events are on the fire in this year which already is one-third spent.

Naturally our first thought is that the remaining eight months may well bring us to the crisis in the cold-war between Russia and the Democracies. That is, the cold war either will have developed into a shooting war or we shall have substantiation for our belief that another global conflict isn't inevitable. Certainly the world's fate hangs in the balance.

Other Momentous Matters
That's the number 1 issue, but interlocked with it are many other momentous matters. For instance, can Russia be held along the line which she has established across central Europe or will she be able to surge westward? Any further great movement toward the English Channel might easily be fatal to world peace.

We shall learn whether the new alignment of the nations in western Europe in conjunction with the Marshall plan is the real thing or just a flash in the pan. In short we shall know whether the Democracies have the courage of their convictions.

Can Italy and France — both strategic states in the Democratic bloc — overcome the double handicap of fierce economic depression and the assault of powerful Communist parties which take their orders from Moscow? Can England pull herself out of her economic tail-spin and reestablish the military strength essential to this sentinel of western Democracy? Present indications are that the answer to both these questions is in the affirmative.

Let's not overlook that upon American strength hinges the fate of Democracy. Any display of weakness, due to internal dissension, might be an invitation to disaster. It might produce the world conflict which we are trying to avert.

And what of our peace organization? It's fate fits into the general picture of this decisive year. The view of many close observers is that the U.N. will have to be remodeled to enable it to function.

Stassen Seeks 23 Votes From Ohio

Columbus, O., May 4 (AP)—Harold E. Stassen sought 23 of Ohio's 53 Republican Presidential nominating delegates in today's primary as he and Senator Robert A. Taft reached their showdown at the polls.

The former Minnesota governor pinned his hope on 11 hand-picked districts—mostly in the northeastern Ohio industrial sector—for his assault on the home defenses of Senator Taft, the GOP Congressional leader.

Taft was certain of 30 of the 53 delegates, for that number of his candidates are unopposed. It will be considered a setback for Stassen should the Minnesota fail to get 10 or more of the 23 for which he is contesting.

The polls opened at 6:30 a. m. (EST) and close at 6:30 p. m. Between those hours upwards of 750,000 Republicans are expected to file into the polling places to back their choices.

"After all, The Gettysburg Times is our daily newspaper. We are unalterably a part of Adams county and we welcome The Times cooking school. As the Littlestown correspondent of The Times, it is my pleasure to present Burgess Charles R. Mehring."

Burgess Mehring also praised The Times for its public spirit in providing the cooking school for Littlestown women and welcomed the large audience present.

Award Food Baskets

For this audience, it was a night of revelation not only in the art of good cooking, but in the use of foods to make the current high prices fit the average family budget. There were many "ohs" and "ahs" from the audience as Mrs. Rowe brought forth from the oven the results of her culinary skill.

Winners of the ten baskets given away Monday night were: Mrs. Mabel Patterson, 36 East King street; Mrs. Harold Schue, Littlestown; Mrs. Allen Eckenrode, 27 East King street; Mrs. Roy Buck, 71 Crouse park; Mrs. Roy N. Beard, 408 South Queen street; Effie Frownfelter, South Queen street; Mrs. Wilbur D. Fair, 115 N. Queen street; Florence V. Zell, 260 E. King street; Mrs. Francis Seipp, 229 North Queen street, and Mrs. Addison Horner, High street extended, Hanover.

42 Prizes Tonight

The "good things to eat" which Mrs. Rowe had prepared were also distributed. Mrs. Benjamin B. LeFevre, 356 East King street, received the toffee pie. The lime crisp salad was given to Mrs. Charles R. Benner, 42 Prince street, and the apple sauce cake went to Mrs. Maggie Cutsall, also of Littlestown.

Other gifts were presented as follows: hot roll tart, to Mrs. Calvin Sentz, 161 Cemetery street; macaroni salad, to Esther M. Crouse, Littlestown R. 1; tomato salad, to June Huff, Littlestown R. 1; chicken barbecue, to Mrs. Calvin Sentz, Jr., Littlestown R. 2, and the apple pie to Mrs. Jack H. Crouse, 107 North Queen street.

Ten more baskets of groceries will be given away tonight at the second and concluding session of the Littlestown cooking school, and in addition, there will be 32 special awards from Littlestown and vicinity merchants and manufacturers.

The cooking school will begin at the same time tonight, at 7:30 p. m., in St. Aloysius school auditorium, and an overflow crowd is expected.

take in regard to the report on the Carlisle street-Lincoln avenue intersection.

Seek Data On Square
There has been a traffic light at the intersection of Carlisle street for years. It was pointed out, but whether the report showing that permission cannot be granted for a light means the old light should be removed was too much for council to answer without further information. The state had previously told the council to continue the light there until further notification. Whether Evans' letter was the "further notification" could not be answered immediately.

The state will be asked to express its opinion on the square as a result of a request from the local Chamber of Commerce asking the council to obtain such information to determine whether lights are needed in the square. Evans, in one of his letters to council, said he understood council was in no hurry about a count of traffic on the square and thus did not have any count made there.

Approve Three Lights

In three other letters Evans approved lights at the intersections of Buford and Springs avenue; Baltimore and Middle streets and Baltimore and Steinwehr avenue.

According to the permits and plans presented by Evans, all traffic lights will be placed on the corners of the intersections.

If council follows Evans' directions the light on the northwest side of the Chambersburg street, Buford avenue intersection will be removed and only two traffic lights will be located at the intersection. One post will be at the Springs avenue, Buford avenue intersection. It will bear lights for east and west traffic on Chambersburg and Springs avenue. A green arrow will show permission for traffic on the right hand side of Chambersburg street to enter Buford avenue without stopping for a red light.

Other Lights

The other light will be at the southeast side at the intersection of West and Chambersburg streets.

At Baltimore street four posts are to be erected, with one light on the northeast corner facing south, two lights on the northwest corner with one facing south, and one east; one light on the southwest corner facing north and two lights on the southeast corner, one facing west and one north.

At the Steinwehr avenue intersection the lights will remain much as they are with the addition of a green arrow permitting cars going to the right from Baltimore street into Steinwehr avenue to continue without stopping for a red light.

Major "Bud" Smith, Dillsburg, a former Lions district governor, spoke briefly about the scope of work handled at the army's Middletown control depot and Dr. Joseph Riley asked the club's help in the proposed kite flying contest by the Gettysburg Recreation association.

Perfect attendance pins were presented by Secretary Ralph Barley to 46 members of the local club for their record during the seven-month attendance contest period. D. E. Hess reported briefly on a recent Lions district gathering at Carlisle with an international officer as the speaker.

President M. P. Hartzell, Sr., presided at the meeting with 98 members and guests in attendance.

STATE TO HONOR ITS NATIVE SONS

Harrisburg, May 4 (AP)—Pennsylvania will honor its native sons who have made good elsewhere during Pennsylvania Week this year.

The state chamber of commerce announced today it will sponsor a statewide canvass to select "Pennsylvania Ambassadors" to be honored at home town celebrations during the week of Sept. 26-October 2.

The "ambassadors" will be distinguished citizens who were born or lived in Pennsylvania and now reside in other states. They will be nominated by the local chamber of commerce in the state community where they formerly resided.

The state chamber said each community having a "distinguished son or daughter" selected by the state committee will arrange to honor its "ambassador" at a community dinner or celebration. At that time, an inscribed scroll will be presented, detailing the person's achievements and signed by the governor.

The "ambassadors" also will be invited to appear as guests of honor at a statewide function following the local celebrations.

"This contest," declared Secretary of Commerce Orus J. Matthews, who asked the state chamber to sponsor the project, "promises to add a lively new feature to our celebration of Pennsylvania Week."

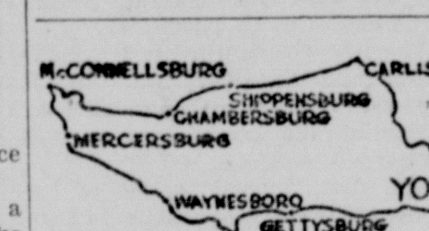

"It also offers each community an opportunity to pay tribute to outstanding former residents who have reflected credit on our Commonwealth by their achievements in various fields of endeavor."

SAYS STRONG UN CAN AVERT WAR

Harrisburg, May 4 (AP)—The Pennsylvania Federation of Women's clubs was told that a strong United Nations is the only alternative to another world war.

Cord Meyer, Jr., president of the United World Federalists, Inc., said last night that under the system of sovereign nations and with mass destruction methods, the choices of the United States are limited to dropping bombs on Russia, destroying our armaments, or proposing a "security system of enforceable law."

Meyer said this security system must be given a world police force more powerful than the force of any individual nation.

Mrs. Hiram Houghton, first vice president of the General Federation of Women's clubs, told the opening session of the Federation's annual convention yesterday that "Our only defense in the atomic age is to build a world of two billion people who get along so well they have no need to drop bombs on each other."

The Federation's three-day convention ends tomorrow.

Chapter 28

Behind his bone-rimmed glasses John Bissett's vague eyes met Vince's and wavered. "I suppose I owe you an apology for an unpleasant hour in the refrigerator," he said grudgingly.

Is this an apology or isn't it? the naval officer wondered. Can't the fellow do anything decently? "Don't strain yourself," he said. "I wouldn't call it exactly unpleasant—Julia was in there with me, you know."

Before Bissett could retort, Johanson coughed suggestively. Let's get on with this letter business, Bissett, you repeat what you saw for Vince?"

After an ugly hesitant moment Bissett cleared his throat ostentatiously.

"There were fifteen envelopes—one each for Luki and Dr. Palmer, two for Julia, three for Dukane and eight for Mr. Mannley. I opened the eight; they were all bills or business, nothing significant in them."

"You still have them?" Vince asked shortly.

"Yes, I'll get them."

When Bissett returned with the letters the three men poured over them. The secretary looked triumphant when the other two agreed that there was nothing of interest in them. Johanson picked them up carefully.

"Seven to go and I think I'll get on their trail right away." He gave Bonney a searching glance. "Better get some breakfast; you look a little the worse for wear."

Breakfast at Kalanil was informal and served in the English manner, a series of chafing dishes placed on the massive mahogany buffet. Vince thought himself alone and was peering into a tureen when an icy hand slipped across the back of his neck. He spun around nervously.

"Lord, Julie, it's too early in the day for a trick like that!"

She laughed softly. "I'm not very good at resisting temptation."

"That's encouraging." His eyes caressed the soft blue wool of her sweater and slid down to her jodhpur-clad legs. "Got a horse concealed in the timber somewhere Julie?"

"No. The Olands haven't shown up since Hugh returned. We count on them for our fresh vegetables and dairy produce. Luki and I are walking over."

Vince's glance strayed to a golden tendril curling seductively around the lobe of her ear. "You look as fit as a fiddle. I was worried about you. I knew we shouldn't fall asleep in there—but it got the better of me."

"I did fall asleep Vince but not before I—" she hesitated uncertainly. "Well, perhaps it was just a dream after all."

"No Julie, it wasn't a dream. I meant every word of it."

They stared at each other for long seconds then Julia put her hand over his. "Vince, there's something I—" She stopped as Johanson entered.

"Oh here you are," he said with relief, "been looking all over for you."

A question formed in her eyes. "What is it? Why do you want me?"

"I'm rounding up all the mail that you picked up at the Post Office on Thursday. There were two letters for you. I'd like to see them, please."

"You mean you're going to read them?"

"Detectives have to snoop into personal affairs, you know."

Vince felt her fingers stiffen. She glanced at their hands, flushed with embarrassment and withdrew hers. "There was nothing important in them," she insisted. "They were both from Honolulu friends of mine."

"Then you won't mind our reading them. Please get them for us."

"Now?"

"Now," he echoed emphatically.

As she left the room, the investigator put four vari-colored envelopes on the table. Vince recognized one as the letter addressed to Luki.

He read it through carefully then turned to Johanson.

"This one seems harmless—it's from Luki's sister, describing family affairs and island activities. Nothing to get him even slightly excited."

The investigator nodded. "Nothing here either. The two from Dukane's wife tell of trivial home matters and the other is from a government agency relating to new tariffs on leaf tobacco, which Dukane raises. That leaves Julia's two and Palmer's one which is in town with his personal effects."

"Look here," Vince said. "Bissett said there were fifteen letters, but suppose there were sixteen, the other addressed to Bissett himself?"

"That's the fly in the ointment," Johanson agreed. "But let's eliminate the fifteen first. I'm going to send all of them in to a hand-writing expert. He may be able to find something we've missed," he added hopefully.

When Julia returned and placed the two letters on the table before them her eyes were averted; without saying a word she left the room. The two men exchanged mutually puzzled glances then with one accord each selected a letter.

Vince's was from a girl of Julia's age and contained a bewildering jargon relating to college life and a description of various dates with the Honolulu military set. A hilarious snort from Johanson interrupted him.

"I understand Julia's reluctance now," the investigator chuckled. "In all fairness to the girl, Bonney, I don't think you should read this one."

Before Johanson could put it aside Vince snatched the sheet of note-paper from the investigator's long spatulate fingers. Seconds later he was shaking with humor. The letter was nothing more noxious than a heart-felt plea from an ardent admirer in the Army, an elaborate protestation of love that made Vince's ears turn pink with embarrassment for the writer.

Johanson gathered the six envelopes into a neat pile. . . .

"I'm sending these in for hand-writing analysis immediately and our man can examine Palmer's too. It isn't much for us to go on—just a straw in the wind, but still, there's a slight chance." Sighing dispiritedly he left Vince alone in the Victorian gloom of Sophie Mannley's dining room.

Chapter 29

It was ten of ten by the radium hands of Vince Bonney's service watch.

The shrubbery surrounding Ka-lanil made pitted shadows, forming inky barriers against the walls and the outline of the uncompleted pool. Against them the restless silhouettes of pines and madroñas swayed in the chill wind.

With each step that took him further from the house, the prickling sensation on the back of his neck increased until he felt that each nerve stood out from his body individually like a snail's antenna.

Acting as bait for a murderer was an unpleasant feeling he admitted. Johanson was supposed to be waiting in the bushes near the little summer house and Vince called softly. The raucous croak of a tree toad was his only response. His muscles tightened with apprehension. Where was the detective? Had something gone wrong with the plan?

It had been Vince's idea. The investigator had wanted to make an arrest immediately but Vince had vetoed the idea.

"You'll get nothing that way; this little trick may force him out."

"All right, it's your hide," Johanson had finally agreed.

Vince went over the scheme again in his own mind. . . .

He had asked Luki to his room and handed him five envelopes, saying "Luki, I know you would like to find out who killed Miss Sophie and Mr. Mannley as much as the police do. Isn't that so?"

The unsmiling Hawaiian had nodded soberly. "Yes sar, that is true."

"Very well. I want you to give these five envelopes to Miss Julia. Madam Devereaux, Mr. Bissett, Mr. Dukane and Mr. or Mrs. Donovan sometime during the early part of the evening. Don't let anyone see you. Understand?"

Luki's amazingly luxuriant lashes flickered briefly. "Yes sar."

"You see," Vince explained, "We don't know who the murderer is but this little plan may expose him. Mr. Johanson and the police do not know of it."

"Yes sar. You mean this is a trap to catch the criminal?"

"Exactly." He shot Luki a conspiratorial smile. "Mr. Johanson believes those letters he collected today may tell us something. He's going to send them in to a hand-writing expert tomorrow but meanwhile I'm keeping them safe right here." He patted the pocket of his tweed suit.

In retrospect the plan seemed stupid, even dangerous, but perhaps. . . .

The night was silent now. The summer house entrance faced directly on that weird narrow extension of land that Julia called the Devil's Walk. One misstep on the winding path meant a fifty foot fall to the water below and almost certain death on the knife-like rocks that rose from the canal here.

Suddenly Vince stood up. . . . Someone was coming along the path!

Over his white servant's jacket Luki had donned an old khaki wool coat. That, combined with his rich mahogany skin, made him almost indistinguishable.

"Luki!" Vince exclaimed. "What are you doing here?"

"I thought you might need assistance sar." He passed Vince and went inside the summer house. "I will wait here with you, sar."

"Thanks." Vince took up his stand in the entrance and waited.

He cupped his hands to light a cigarette; it annoyed him to see that his palms glistened with sweat. He had turned his class ring inward so that the polished carnelian served him as a tiny mirror. Now, something he saw in that stone, a quick flash of metallic light made him throw himself to the ground with all the speed and strength he could summon!

As though timed by a stop watch a gun spoke out of the darkness; an object whistled past his ear and lay gleaming in the pebbles before the little summer house. He heard a sharp pained intake of breath just behind him.

Johanson came toward him from a clump of bushes. A revolver was in his hand. "All right Luki," he said, "the game is up."

Vince got to his feet. Behind him Charles Lukilano was holding his hand over an ugly shoulder wound. His eyes were dark, defiant and sullen. Using his handkerchief Johanson picked up the knife still lying in the path.

"You seem to have been rather good at this sort of thing, Luki."

A wry smile twisted the Islander's full lips.

"So it was you who killed Mr. Mannley, eh Luki?" Johanson demanded.

The irises of Luki's eyes seemed to dilate with bitterness.

"Yes, I killed him. He sinned against the Lukilanos. Our family was one of the noblest, the purest racial strains in the Hawaiian Islands. We are direct descendants of the first king Mr. Mannley despoiled our family line."

"Last Thursday I received a letter from my sister. She told me what I had never known—that Mr. Mannley was the father of her child, Leilani. The girl is seventeen now. She has a wonderful singing voice. My sister said that the music teachers in Honolulu have told her, that Leilani should come to the mainland to study. But it is very expensive; my sister has not the money."

Luki's voice died as though what he had just said was sufficient reason for his succeeding actions. But Johanson ordered him on harshly. . . .

"My sister says that Dr. Palmer and Mrs. Donovan witnessed Leilani's birth. She asked me to plead with Mr. Mannley for the money. She said when she went to him personally in Honolulu he refused to see her but she is determined."

"Thursday night I asked him for the money. He refused and I grew angry. I told him my thoughts and he was insulted that his servant should speak so. He grabbed me by the throat. He was choking me when I saw the pearl diver's knife. So I killed him."

As he ceased talking a troubled silence settled over the little group.

Philadelphia, May 4 (P)—Moving men emptying four west Philadelphia homes owned by a wealthy widow who died a month ago found a $12,000 hoard of gold notes and old style bills. The apparently forgotten hoard was in a trick safe hidden in an old buffet. Searchers Saturday struggled through masses of furniture which had been placed to block all entrances to one of the houses.

WORKERS GET BENEFIT OF NEW TAX CUT

Washington, May 4 (P)—The $1,800,000,000 a year tax cut because a hard cash reality for many taxpayers Saturday.

A boost in retail buying was expected as wage earners paid off Saturday, found less money withheld from their paychecks for taxes—regardless of when the money was earned.

Those paid Saturday were the first of more than 50,000,000 taxpayers getting a tax-home pay raise at government expense.

The law, passed by Congress last March over President Truman's veto, dates the lower withholding tax back to the start of the year. But the government won't grant refunds until final 1948 income tax returns are filed early in 1949.

Many Are Freed

The 7,400,000 persons freed from all income taxes by the new law will have to wait like others to get back the money withheld from their paychecks from January through April.

The millions of other taxpayers will get cuts ranging from 12.6 per cent on taxes of $400 a year or less, down to five per cent on a tax of $134,000 or more.

The treasury estimates the reductions will cost the government $600,000,000 in May and June, with over 45,000,000 taxpayers sharing in that pool.

The June reduction will go not only to those subject to withholding taxes, but also to professional workers and higher-income groups who have a quarterly tax payment due June 15.

They can file amended estimates of tax to cut down their quarterly payments. Treasury officials expressed belief many down-scaled their estimates in March in anticipation of the tax cut.

How the average taxpayer will spend his extra money—he normally saves only about seven cents out of each dollar he earns—was debatable.

Some government economists said they expect the lower income groups getting the bulk of the multi-billion dollar refund to spend it on either greater amounts or better quality food, clothing and amusement. Increased investments are expected among the higher income taxpayers.

Look who gets squeezed!

Union leaders representing less than one-tenth of railroad employees reject recommendations of President's Emergency board—refuse to negotiate except on their own terms—threaten to paralyze nation by strike!

THE LEADERS of three railroad unions, representing less than one-tenth of all railroad employees, have called a railroad strike that would paralyze the nation.

These leaders refuse to accept a 15½ cents an hour wage increase retroactive to November 1, 1947. This increase was recommended by an impartial Emergency Board appointed by President Truman.

This increase of 15½ cents already has been accepted by the 19 other railroad unions. But the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, and the Switchmen's Union of North America won't accept what more than 90% of all railroad employees have accepted. They have called a strike to get more!

Unions refuse rules discussion

Certain rules changes demanded by these union leaders—which would increase wages still further—were recommended by the Board. But the union leaders want more—they demand that the railroads put into effect ALL the changes they asked for, including those the Board felt should be denied.

On top of this, they insist that certain rules changes proposed by the railroads be withdrawn—in spite of the fact that the Board recommended them! These union leaders have refused to negotiate except upon these arbitrary terms.

Greater wage increase not justified

Engineers and firemen are among the highest paid of all employees in America, as figures in the box show. This strike threat doesn't justify giving a greater increase than other railroad workers received.

Emergency Boards are a means provided by the Railway Labor Act in the public interest to avoid strikes. The President's Board, after hearing evidence for 33 days, made recommendations based on all the facts in the case. The railroads have accepted these recommendations.

Who's to blame?

Although they deplored so large an extra cost burden, the railroads accepted the report of the Board because they felt it was in the public interest to uphold the spirit and intent of the Railway Labor Act.

In contrast, this small group of railroad union leaders are attempting to flout the intent and spirit of the Railway Labor Act, and dictate their own terms.

They have dictated a paralyzing railroad strike.

You will be the victim!

How long will the American public stand for the undemocratic, arbitrary, and abusive use of the right to strike and the disregard of the obligation to provide transportation? How long can the American people permit a few dictatorial union leaders to defy the processes provided for peaceful settlement of disputes?

Force seldom produces settlements that are either fair or lasting. Moreover, a point is often reached when personal interests must be held subordinate to the greater public welfare. That is why the railroads have accepted the Emergency Board recommendations. That is also why the leaders of these three unions should reconsider their decision to call a paralyzing strike.

SUPREME COURT RULES AGAINST BIG 5 IN MOVIES

Washington, May 4 (AP)—The movie industry's big five wrestled with a new script today—an order from the Supreme Court to get out of the super-colossal class.

The tribunal ruled yesterday that the five companies violated anti-trust laws through price-fixing and film distribution agreements. It also told lower courts to go ahead with new proceedings to determine whether the movie concerns must sell their interest in 3,137 theaters.

At the same time the high court set the stage for damage claims by independent theater owners which may run into millions of dollars.

The main monopoly case has been in court since 1938.

By a 7 to 1 vote the Supreme Court upheld all but one of the findings of a special three-judge Federal Court sitting in New York last year. Justice Douglas wrote the majority opinion, with Justice Frankfurter dissenting. Justice Jackson took no part in the hearing.

The big five companies involved are: Lowe's, R.K.O., Paramount, Warner Bros., and 20th Century-Fox. They produce, distribute and exhibit movies. Linked with them in the case were Columbia Pictures Corp., and Universal Corp., producers and distributors, and United Artists Corp., a distributor.

Among other things, the court said the firms acted in restraint of trade by:

1. Setting the price of admissions.
2. Giving "clearance" to some theaters—that is, setting the time before a film could be shown in a rival house.
3. Block booking—by which a theater or a chain must take a number of pictures to get a particular one desired.

See Flood of Suits
On the matter of damage claims, the court refused to review a case appealed from Philadelphia and thus upheld a $435,000 judgment to William Goldman, operator of the Erlanger theater in Philadelphia.

The District Court and the Court of Appeals had awarded Goldman triple damages on his contention that he would have made $125,000 in 15 months if he had had access to the best pictures on the first run. The courts also allowed Goldman $60,000 for attorney fees and ordered the distributors to let him bid for the top ranking pictures.

Later Goldman sued for another $8,400,000 for a four-year period following the 15 months. Lawyers for the producers and distributors said more than 60 similar suits are pending and that it "will bring down on the industry a flood of litigation which it may not be able to survive."

Held For Murder Of Invid Girl

Allentown, Pa., May 4 (AP)—Mrs. Grace Feiertag, 39, was charged with murder last night in the strange death of her 14-year-old invalid daughter, Esther, District Attorney Kenneth H. Koch said.

Koch said Mrs. Feiertag, her husband, Raymond, and their four children were taken to the county home yesterday after they had been evicted from their own home.

State Policeman Michael Warpo said that Mrs. Feiertag told him she stuffed cotton into her daughter's mouth and held a handkerchief over her face.

The child's body was discovered by Dr. Rowland W. Bachman, county home physician, while on a routine visit to the institution.

Warpo said Mrs. Feiertag told him she killed her daughter because of worry over the child's condition and the family's eviction.

Chester, Pa., May 4 (AP)—A seven-state police search for two bandits who bludgeoned Karl V. Kerth, Sr., 72, to death in his drug store Saturday night, was underway today. Kerth, pharmacist for 50 years, died in Chester hospital several hours after he staggered from his mid-city drug store.

Roberts Condemns UMT, Draft Link Up

Washington, May 4 (AP)—Owen J. Roberts, retired associate justice of the Supreme Court, has turned thumbs down on a combined draft-universal military training proposal now before the Senate armed services committee.

Roberts is an ardent UMT supporter. As chairman of the National Security committee which claims to represent 24,000,000 persons Roberts said in a weekend statement:

"It is an ill-conceived compromise dictated by the political expedience of an election-minded Congress."

Littlestown

Littlestown—J. A. Shorb, East King street, spent Saturday in York. Mrs. Bernard Shadle, daughter, Sandra, and son, William Franklin II, East King street, spent the weekend in Frederick with Mrs. Shadle's father, Jesse Wiles. On Sunday, the family had a birthday dinner in honor of Mr. Wiles' fifty-fifth birthday.

The Adams County Past Grands association, IOOF will hold their monthly meeting Thursday at 8 p.m. as guests of York Springs Lodge No. 211. A number from Littlestown will attend.

The Senior class of the Littlestown high schools visited the Naval Depot at Mechanicsburg on Friday. They traveled on a chartered bus and were accompanied by Coach Clayton L. Evans. The following made the trip:

Paul Bowers, Treva Bowers, Herman Boyd, Kenneth Boyd, Dolores Dayhoff, Jean Dodder, George Gemmill, Bernice Gerrick, Bessie Good, Betty Hankey, George Harner, Anna Heiser, Virginia Herr, Harold Hockensmith, Marion Huff, Robert King, Jean Matthias, Ruth Miller, Charlotte Myers, James Myers, Joyce Myers, Lorraine Myers, Mervin K. Myers, Doris Renner, Eleanor Spangler, Margaret Stonesifer and Brenda Walker.

There will be a special meeting of the St. Aloysius Catholic Beneficial society, Wednesday at the parish hall at 8 p.m. to make plans for the annual social to be held in June.

Final plans for the May meeting of the Cub Pack No. 84 next Tuesday evening were made Monday evening at a meeting of the den mothers, den chiefs and assistant cub masters at the home of the cub master, the Rev. Kenneth D. James, West King street. The meeting will be in the form of a roller skating party to be held at the Rainbow rink. Big Pipe Creek park, near Tancytown. Transportation for the cubs will be furnished by their fathers. Cubs and their guests will meet at the State bank building at 6:30 p.m. The party will be from 7 to 10 p.m. and the Brownies will be the guests. During the month of June, the prospect of each den will be to build a shelter in the yard of the den mothers, or in the yard of a member of the den or in a nearby vacant lot. They will gather the material to build the shelter and will make equipment to be used in it. The June Pack, will be an outdoor meeting on the lawn of St. John's Lutheran parsonage, West King street. The fathers and sons of the dens will serve refreshments to the mothers, who will be special guests at the meeting. The theme will be "Pack Cook Out."

It was announced that a new den is being formed. Kenneth Olinger will be the den chief and Mrs. Harry Snyder will be the den mother. The boys assigned to the den will be announced later.

The report of the custodian of the Littlestown Branch of the Adams County Free Library for the month of April is as follows: 90 books and 20 magazines were loaned; and there were two new adult subscribers and 1 new junior subscriber. The following new books were received from the main library: "The Last Days of Hitler" by Trevor Roper; "End of a Berlin Diary" by Shirer; "The Blue House of Taxco" by Kathleen Moore Knight; "Shoot if You Must" by Richard Powell; "The Devil to Pay" by Ellery Queen; "The Farm House" by Helen Reilly; "Presidential Mission" by Upton Sinclair.

Books given by Mrs. H. S. Crouse, which have been sent to the main library to be catalogued include, "Walking the Whirlwind," "Lebanon," "Persia—The Land of the Magi," "Big Doc's Girl" and "Sisters." Miss Vivian Brumgard has given 50 issues of the National Geographic magazine and Miss Louise Duttera gave the following books: "The Moonstone," "The Chasm" and "Sailor Singer."

The meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Mason and Dixon Memorial Post No. 654, VFW, will not meet on Thursday evening as previously announced because of the Mother-Daughter banquet at Redeemer's Reformed church. They will meet instead on Thursday, May 13.

The VFW Auxiliary will visit the Gettysburg post on Wednesday evening. All members who expect to go are requested to meet at the home at 7:30 p.m. Transportation will be provided. The following members of the local post attended the installation service last Thursday evening at Hanover post no. 2506: Louise Sentz, president; Helen Wisotzky, Helen Jacobs, Anna Blocher, Ruth Sentz, Ottilie Weaver, Malva Duttera, Louise Duttera, Marie Dutterer, Mabel Newman, Elva Weaver, Ethel Steick and Dorothy Hull.

A trip has been planned by the Woman's Community club of Littlestown and vicinity on Saturday to the Dupont Gardens and Valley Forge. Reservations are still available but they must be made by Friday. Members may take guests. Those still desiring reservations are requested to see Mrs. Albert Lawyer and Mrs. Harvey Pettyjohn, members of the committee or the president, Mrs. Charles W. Weikert. Each member will provide her own lunch and will meet at Weikert's bakery, Saturday at 7 a.m.

A surprise miscellaneous bridal shower was given in honor of Miss Martha (Peggy) G. Ocker Spalding, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard J. Spalding, West King street, whose marriage to Lt. (jg) Gerald John Hunt, USNR, son of Dr. and Mrs. B. C. Hunt, Sacramento, California, will take place on Saturday afternoon, May 22, in the chapel of St. Peter and St. Paul, Philadelphia Naval Base. The shower was held at the post home of the VFW on Saturday evening by her friends and neighbors. The room was decorated with spring flowers. The chandelier was draped with pink and white crepe paper and fifty small umbrellas hung from the streamers, which were attached to the gifts and all were arranged under a large pink umbrella. Following the opening and displaying of the gifts, refreshments were served to the following: Miss Peggy Spalding, Mrs. Howard J. Spalding, Mrs. James H. Spalding, Mrs. Donald B. ## TORNADO TOLL IN SIX STATES MOUNTS TO 23

By TOM STONE

McKinney, Tex., May 4 (AP)—McKinney and nearby Princeton began to snap back to life today after the two north Texas towns were flooded yesterday by a violent tornado that killed three, injured 53 and caused widespread damage.

The storm, lashing out of a darkened hail-swept sky, lengthened the list of tornado casualties in six states within a 48-hour period to 23 dead and more than 156 injured. Storms hit Texas, Oklahoma, Misssouri, Kansas, Kentucky, and West Virginia.

Half Million Damage

In Princeton, Earl Walker, chair, man of the Collin county Red Cross chapter, said "everybody pitched in and helped us to get back on our feet."

The tornado battered the south part of McKinney and traveled on to Princeton, where heavy damage was suffered.

The dead were identified as J. H. Maynor, 35, who lived on a farm near Princeton; Mrs. Yola Lowry, 78, McKinney; and Arthur Holmes, whose age and address were not immediately learned.

Mayor R. F. Newsome and public works director J. R. Bryan estimated that damage in McKinney alone exceeded $500,000.

They said that approximately 100 homes were damaged or destroyed. Walker estimated that 60 homes were Additional Republican votes, according to the official count, included: for delegate to national convention, Samuel S. Lewis, 2,641; Paul Walker, 2,558; alternate delegate to national convention, George W. Baker, 2,833; Robert M. Laird, 2,420; county chairman, John H. Baschore, 2,349; George W. Naugle, 1,600; county vice chairman; Ethel Lipton, 2,153; Esther Hayberger, 1,439.

For delegate at large; Edward Martin, 2,560; M. Harvey Taylor, 2,441; James H. Duff, 2,514; G. Mason Owlett, 2,390; Daniel B. destroyed or damaged at Princeton. Several farm houses between the two towns were badly damaged.

Pupils Unhurt

Hardest hit were the Fannie Finch elementary school, the Texas Textile cotton mills, employing hundreds, and the city hospital.

At the elementary school, principal C. T. Eddins suffered the loss of a finger when a door slammed shut on it, but no other serious injuries were reported although school was in session.

Gibson Caldwell, president of the McKinney school board, credited Eddins with saving the lives of many students.

"He instructed the students to stay in the school. If they'd gone outside they may have been hit by debris."

while the Rhythm band of the primary grades played along with other music by the grade pupils.

Concert By Band

The afternoon is being occupied by games of baseball and softball, and afterwards a dinner will be served to the public in the York Springs community hall.

The day's activities will close with a public concert at the community hall by the high school band.

Faculty members were assisted in arranging the program by student committees of which student council president, Leland King, a senior, was general chairman. The Luncheon committee had Dorothy Weigle as chairman, with Joan Miller, Fannie Wonders, Earl Guise and Lloyd Williams. Betty Fair, chairman of the Dinner committee, was assisted by Jean Hetherington, Miriam Hogue, Miriam Kline, Carol C. Koenig, Bertha Rabenstein, Frank W. Hetherington and Francis Myers. Chairman in charge of soft drinks was Alonzo LaVanture. His assistants were Ivan Leer, Dean Murphy and Robert Wolf. Barbara A. Chronister, publicity chairman, was assisted by Beulah Sebring and Charles Congleton.

50-50 CLASS OF

Evangelical Reformed church, Hanover, addressed the group.

Special numbers were sung by Edwina Lawver, Yvonne Forry, Reginald Dunkinson and Donald Bolinger. They were accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Richard Shade. The special numbers were "Mother Macree," "Twenty-eight," "Mother," and "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes." They also introduced a song written especially for the Fifty-fifty class, entitled, "Our Fifty-fifty Class."

Remarks were made by Doctor Gresh who stated that religion should not be enjoyed on Sunday only but everyday of the week. He then presented tokens of appreciation to Robert Weikert who was the first president of the class, and to Crosby Hartzell, the retiring president. The new president, George Hikes, spoke briefly and the program closed by all praying the Lord's prayer.

The officers for the year are: President, George Hikes, vice president, Carroll Smith; treasurer, Roland Hess; secretary, Mrs. Raymond Wieder, and assistant, Mrs. Howard Weller. The banquet committee consisted of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Schmidt, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Powers, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Weikert and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Weller.

Bonny Fissel Is Tendered Party

A birthday party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fissel,

The Rev. Robert D. Hartnett, pastor of the Immaculate Conception Catholic church, New Oxford, has announced a number of special services for the coming week, beginning with the annual May Devotions in honor of the Blessed Virgin Mary.

These devotions will take place during mass each school day morning at 8 o'clock. All parochial school children are expected to attend throughout the month of May.

Because of Ascension Day, Thursday, confessions will be heard Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 and Wednesday evening at 6:30. Masses on Ascension Day, a holy day of obligation, are scheduled for 5 a.m. and 8 a.m.

Thursday afternoon confessions will again be heard in preparation for First Friday, May 7. Thursday's confession time is 3 p.m. and 6:30 p.m.

The First Friday mass is to be celebrated at 7:30 a.m. For those who cannot attend, Holy Communion will be distributed at 6 a.m. The monthly Holy Hour will be at 7:30 Friday evening.

Friday also marks the opening of the parish annual novena to the Holy Ghost, in preparation for the Feast of Pentecost, Sunday, May 16.

The Rev. Fr. Hartnett will hear confessions on Friday evening because of the observance on Saturday, May 8, of the annual Mary's Day. On this day women of the National Council of Catholic Women, and many others, will receive Holy Communion at the 8 o'clock mass.

Iron Springs, last Friday in honor of their daughter, Bonny, who celebrated her first anniversary.

A large cake formed the centerpiece and was trimmed with spring flowers tied with pink and white ribbons.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Newton Breighaupt and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Cassatt and sons, James and Ivan, Mr. and Mrs. George Fissel and daughter, Patricia, Edward, Martha and Joseph Fissel, Mrs. Marie Showers and daughter, Betty Ann, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Monn and daughter, Sharon, and Mrs. Clara Sanders.

Refreshments were served. The guest of honor received many gifts.
